"The Unknown Fire" will take place at City Mail this evening, commencing at 5 o'clock.

New Years Day, This annual holiday was spent socially and time-honored by almost everybody, young and old seemed bent on having a good time. The weather was neither wet, nor cold, but slightly mixed; the sleighing was fine, little business was done; the streets were full of people; the hotels gave super-excellent dinners.

But the best feature of the day was the New Year's call. The ladies gave all callers a cordial greeting and extended to them, with the compli- as follows: ments of the season, the hospitaintles of then parlors and their tables. Last year was the first observance here of this pleasant custom by a lew; this year it has been more widely prevalent among our citizens; benceforward, R will be expected, as a matter of course. Our young city may be accused of putting on city sirs, but it certainly wears them with becoming grace. Trusville, inducid, is no tess noted for the social ambition of her ladies than the business activi-ties of her men. The idea that the oil regions hang on the verge of civilized life, and are lack ing in the common courtestes that distinguish other places, though current abroad, finds a refutation at home. It is hard to keep society on good terms with itself, in a new place, scrambled together like tals. But this is the work of the ladies. It is their province to abate gossip, smooth away jealousies, and thaw our isolation These are the bane of all society everywhere. It la common to dilate on woman's worth -- we man's influence. And it is neither a fable nor flattery to emphasize it. An aniable and accomplished woman, bent on a benificent uncaron, in a social sense, can accomplish wonders. We were going to say that she could do more for the manners and morals of a town than all the min-isters in it. The certainly can, unless they are of the highly sanctified kind. Women can keep alive the better feelings, the better sympathies, when other influences lose their power, or when all other influences are working against it. But the subject is too large for a paragraph, and we will enmit up in a scullment appropriate to the season—"The Women! God Bless them!"

Father Azəriah's Old Folks Concert.

The Old Folks Concert, Wednesday evening, realized the most sanguing expectations of The audicuce was a large and brilliant one, the half compactly filled, without being un-comfortably growded. The programme embroced soles, dueis, tries, quartettes, comic songs in climacter, and full choruses, as well as instru-mental pieces. A full orchestra accompanied the singers, and Mr. C. M. Coburn presided at the plane. Ye singing men and women numbered nincteen in line, and were dressed in antient costume, quaint or grotesque, and some very tich and claburate. The company embraced some excellent voices, evincing a good deat of careful calification. Many of the old psalm-tunes — Easter Authora, Sons of Zion, Ode on Science, and Praise God from Whom all Blessings flow, such as used to thegin old coun try charches, generations ago, were rendered with impressive effect. The inblery of the Old Folkes, around the old-fashioned fire place, exemporized for the oversion, was a picture of "the days of auld lang syne," which was especial-ly relished, and lent additional charm to "Mear" while the circle "jloed" in singing. The geins of the evening were "Luluanua" and " Lui board Watch," and were loudly encored. Mr. Cronin acquitted himself in his usual hap py style, showing an incommon mastery of hi voice in difficult pieces. Mr. Ballantine not only delighted the audience with his dramatic deliner tions, but quite surpassed blmself. As an ama teur sluger in the comic line, it would be hard -We learn from Deputy Collector Allen that to find his rqual, as the torpedo-like of the sum of $24,000 was received at his office in of mirth in the audience bore witness. to find his equal, as the torpedo-like explosion

On the whole, the concert was highly creditable to the musical talent of our city, and the company feel well repaid for the time and expense devoted to preparation for it, by the very liberal patronage extended to their late public exhibition. The objects of the cutertainment are purely benevo lent, and through this instrumentality, a considerable aum has been realized in aid of the Good Templar organization of Titasville. Mr Thaver of Cleveland deserves creditable mention for his solution; ald in the stage arrangements on the occasion.

PRESENTATION TO MIL, R. H. BOUGHTON,-OR the evening of New Year's day Mr. R. H. Bough ion, the truly able Agent of the Oil Creek Rail road Company at Thusville and the four stations below, was pre-inted with a spleaded sliver set, consisting of a server, lee pitcher and other articles, and with a beautiful came. The presenta-Creek Railroad Company and a number of oil shippers, as a slight testimonial of their appreciation of the recipient's many good qualities.-About ten o'clack the triends of Mr. Baughton to the number of about thirty, assembled at his residence on Walnut street, and after offering the ongratulations of the season, Mr. Wm. H. Abb. ott, in a brief but pointed speech, presented the articles to Mr. Boughton. Although taken completely by surprise, Mr. B. responded in a few happy and fitting remarks, returning his thanks to the company. The cane is of the massive order and mountait with a magnificent gold head which bears the following inscription: Presented to R. H. Boughton by his friends, January 1st, 1868." After the presentation the purty adjourned to the dining room where are Impromptu repast had been prepared. Tonsts were drank to the healths of Mr. & Mrs. Bough ton, senior and junior, after which the party dis-persed highly pleased and in the best of spirits Altogether the sflair was one of the happlest tha has occurred in Titusville this many a day and will long he remembered by those who particle pated in it. During the evening Mrs. R. H. Boughton, Jr., was presented with an elegant gold ring by Mr. A. A. Pierce, and on the previon evening, Mr. Boughton, sr., was made the recipi-ent of a haudsome meerschaum pipe at the hauds of the employees in the yard of the Oil Creek Bailroad at Thusville.

ROBBERY AT PETROLEUM CENTRE.—OR Wedicaday evening last about eight o'clock Mr. E M. De Wolf, of Petroleum Centre, was robbed o about $275 while passing through Washington street in that place. Mr. De Wolf storted from near the Post Office and passed through a crowe of persons in front of the Opera House and through another crowd that were standing on the side-walk about balf-way between the Opera House and the American Hotel, and had reache the latter place before he discovered his loss -The pocketbook containing the money was in an uside coat pocket, and a hole had been cut in the coat.

THE THEATRE, - There was a large and fashion able audience gathered at Corinthian Hall last evening to greet the return of Sherry's Dramatic Co., the best that ever visited this city, both in the choice of pieces, and the talent of the performers. Rosedale was played in a most admir able style. This evening will be presented the celebrated drama of East Lynne, and Saturday night will close the engagement of the company in this city. Every one who beers their perform nace, speaks of them in terms of high proise.

Dramatic Readings.

We have been favored withow buggary enter ainments this winter, as our applications to bee turers were sent in too late, their appointment being already made. Another year, it is to h hoped that we may use more promptitude, and have better fortune. But we can promise our prople an intellectual treat of a thigh order, the coming week. Prof. Lawrence, a distinguished Professor of Elocation from Philade phia is in our city, giving private lessons to a few gentle men, who have procurred his visit for tha po-c. His sojourn here will be brief. But he has consented to give a reading in public before like departure, and Corinthian Hall has been engaged for this entertainment, next Wednesday evening Prof. Lawrence is the teacher of elecution in the public schools of Philadelphia, and the Champion Ciub of speakers in that city, which is reported to be unrivalled in this country, receives its instruction from this gentleman will be seen by the advertisement that his selections for his reading here are quite varied, em bracing comic and sentimental places, as well as many gems in poetry and oratory, such, indeed, ns require the most versatile dramatic talent for their successful rendition. Prof. Luwrence has received the highest encomiums from the press well as from critics and distinguished speakers in Church and Smie. The Philadelphia Eco. ong Bulletin, in speaking of Prof. Lawrence's reading, not long since, says :

"On Wednesday evening at Horticultural Hall, Prof. Philip Lawrence attracted a crowded and an intellectual audience. Of his performance we annot speak too highly. His delivery of Mark Antony's oration was one of the finest Shakes percan renditions we ever heard, perfectly true to nature, and in the highest order of the art .the black horse galloping on to the battle, was rought so vividly before the minds of the mudionce that they almost fencied they could see it. with its flashing eyes and foaming nostrils. Poe's " Bells" was a wonderful performance, the modulations of voice, the force of the delivery, the varied sounds of the talling, chiming, and ringing bells were most artistically executed. it annot be praised too highly and we would advisc all lovers of fine elecution to be present the next time this beautiful poem is recited. We hope it will not be long before he favors us with an-ther intellectual entertainm int."

A New Use for Petroleum. A few day's since, a communication appeared In the New York Tribune, in which the write claims that Petroleum is one of the larget offertive, durable and economical of all the means of nethods in use for preserving would parements. for streets. The writer avering that wood payments, with this preparation, are superior to stone pavement. He says the absorption of petroleum, by wood of all kinds, has been proved to be a very simple, cheap and thorough operation, and possessing the properties of detention without decomposition or alteration in any form for a length of time superior to any other in

than can be found in any one liquid derived from DURYEA'S SATIS GLOSS STARCH, the lest stare the distillation of either the or coal, and in it natural state it contains the elements of both coal and tar. The only means required for it to pene tiate wood, is to immerse the timber in a lank containing the natural oil, the operation being completely successful lu a surprisingly brief peand the Northern German Enlow, for the under-mentioned countries of Europe and Asia, will be the permeation of water, the attack of all insect and the increstation of all other substances, on which account it requires no point, being in Liet already filled with paint in era By. It would be a difficult mair to state the immense amount of saying in the construction of ships, roofs, fences bridges, railroad ties, and nearly all other wand en structures, by the application of petroleum judging from the facts airealy known respecting hs preservative property. Another valuable preperty of petroleum is that of increasing the strength of wood. The more porous the timbers by which it is limbibed, the more thoroughly it is practipled by the oil, the result being an increase of its density and firmness. The advantage of its use for preserving wooden pavements, in a s mitary point of view, is also very important, i being for less liable to the absorption of arimal fluid- and other fold matters than el ter of the other elemicals heretolore eled.

The Proofices of Meter-it is a gratifying fact to note the steady and mild growth of the knowledge of that most humanizing of all attemusic, on this continent, and the increasing love for and taste and appreciation of it, which per vades all classes of society. Few years, com paratively, have clapsed since the higher branches of the art were but little understood in our midst; nevertheless, the love of music, so uptly styled the "universal language" of nature and the civil zed world, was linb died in the herrts of ail, and it only needed time for the development of the art to as high a state of general perfection as any other country can exhibit. No home pretending to any degree of refinement would now be regarded complete without a piano forte, and the study of this instrument is decreed an essential portion of education in the youth of

At the present time, when almost every branch of trade and mechanical industry has been prostrated and is languishing in a transitory state, and the complaints of lack of customary trade are on I and general, the manufacture of musical instruments is as brisk as ever, while the business of our colebrated manufacturers of first class pignes is flourishing to a remerkable degree. In grouf of this we need only cite the Internal Revmue returns of one of the great representative iouse la this department of ort-manufacture, during the months of September and October, manufactured and sold no less than 419 pianos, the net sales of which realized $224,654, on which the goversment tax paid amounted to $11,209.

In this connection, we may call attention to the card of Georgi & Brown of Jimestown, N. Y. Prot. C. A. Brown has sold a great many planes and other musical instruments for this ection and needs no introduction. He is the ole agent in Western New York and Pennsyl vanda, for Moran & Hamlin, Estey & Co's organs with the colobrated Vox Hamana-Trentola, Steinway & Sau's and the "Weber" plans fortes
